

And So I Sing

It is Your breath that holds my face,
It is Your song that fills the trees,
It is Your ways that mystify,
It is Your love that sets me free.

*And so I sing, and so I sing.
How can I help but sing?
And so I sing, and so I sing.
How can I keep from singing?*

It is my heart that feels the pain,
When friends are far away.
It is my soul that thirsts for You,
When far from You I stray.

It is Your hand that guides me back,
Down the dark road back to Your side.
It is Your Word that stills the storm,
and leads me through the night.
